

Stargazing

A NZ based introduction to astronomy course

PILOT COURSE INFORMATION

Thank you for offering to take part in the course pilot. The course is free in return for your feedback.

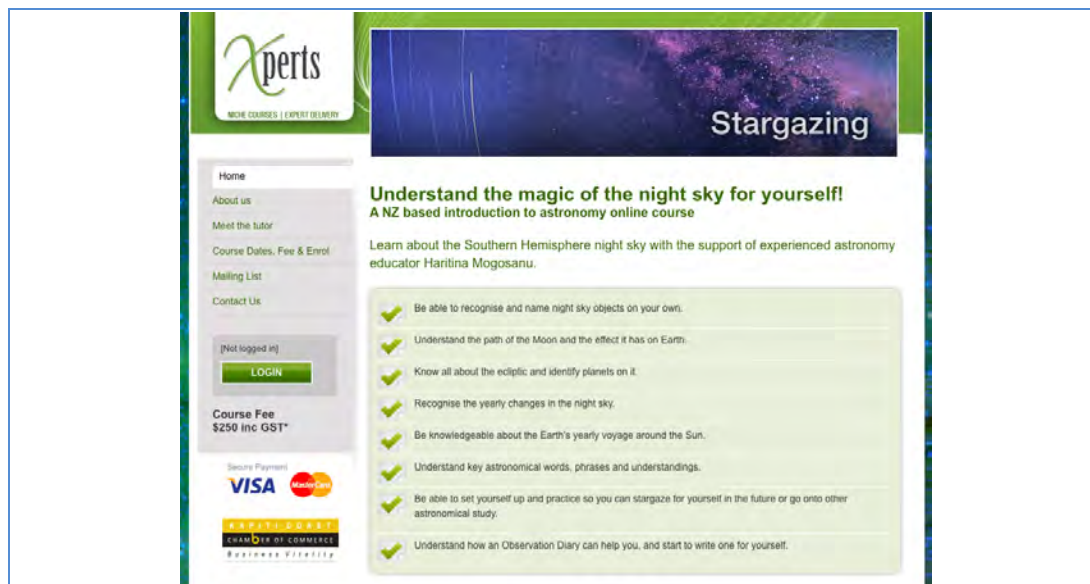

By having the pilot we want to check the content is interesting and able to be easily understood by you, that we have allowed enough time for everyone plus to pick up any improvement suggestions you may have.

The course will run for 6 weeks. Participation will involve you reading prepared notes from Haritina (the tutor) and completing an activity task, which should not take you more than an hour each week. For example we set you up with an Observation Diary so you will need to get out and do a bit of stargazing for yourself.

The course has a knowledge recall quiz to remind you of the key facts. If you pass that and contribute to all the activities we'll send you a personalised Course Certificate to acknowledge the effort.

Instructions to enrol

Soon after you have enrolled you will receive two emails. One has your login information the other is an invoice. Keep your login details safe. Trash the invoice.

Xperts will see your enrolment come in and process you as paid. You then receive an automatic email receipt (which you can trash), and your login will work fully on the 24th February.

> If you do not get your two emails within 12 hours it may be because they have been seen as junk by your computer, or you have entered the wrong email address.

If you do have any issues during enrolment just email me for support: Trevor@xperts.co.nz.

What happens then?

The course opens on the 24th February; you can then login to your course Home Page, meet your tutor online and see what is happening that week. You will get an automatic reminder of the course opening, and I will be back in touch with you the week before the course opens.

Thanks again for taking part.
