

Exoplanet Live!

17

In order to fully appreciate how deeply mankind has always been fascinated by the very idea of other worlds beyond our Solar System, we took the liberty to quote an excerpt (and a bit emphatic one, perhaps) taken from “LES TERRES DU CIEL” - a book written by the famous 19th-century French astronomer Camille Flammarion, who warmly supported the hypothesis of extraterrestrial life

“Yes - we do comprehend you, o aether-suspended worlds, whose light and attraction can be felt down here! It’s true – we can see you in our mind’s eye, mankinds akin to us, you who erected your pavilions on those heavenly worlds so similar to our own Earth!”

Exoplanet Live!

18

27 FEBRUARY, 2008

WE WISH YOU A WONDERFUL OBSERVATION
OF XO-2b'S TRANSIT!

*Rodolfo Calanca
Vice-director, COELUM Astronomia Magazine*

